Do You BLEED ORANGE IV

September 12, 2015

The Stumptown Orange and several other local alumni clubs joined forces on Sep. 12 to bolster Portland's blood supply by 26 units, which means up to 78 people in need helped. We combined our annual blood drive with our first game watch of the year ... and both were successful endeavors. The Orange rolled over Wake Forest, 30 - 17, with true freshman quarterback and the pride of Lake Oswego, Eric Dungey, at the helm.

Special thanks to Spencer Raymond, '10 (above, left) who not only hosted our drive at his taproom, The Civic, but donated blood as well. Three cheers to Erika

Kirkland ('05), Mary Dickinson-Jensen ('13), and Ron Mittelstaedt ('63) (above, right), all of whom volunteered at the sign-in table or Bloodmobile canteen.

Do You BLEED Orange? is known beyond our club as What Color Do YOU Bleed? It's the annual fall community service event not only for the Stumptown Orange but for several other local alumni clubs as well.

We were joined by members of the Illinois, Alabama and North Carolina alumni clubs, among others. Their respective presidents, Jill Townley, Joanna Schratter and Meg Petersen (left to right) all rolled up their sleeves for the cause. Jill worked a volunteer shift as well. Her fellow alum, Jake Panek, pulled double duty, too. Well done, all!

Thanks are in order for Charlie Denton and the crew from Boise Fry Company, as well, for providing freebie fries for donors. And David, Angus and the rest of The Civic crew for keeping us well-

... uh, watered. And Elizabeth Butler and the entire Red Cross staff deserve huzzahs for their efforts on the Bloodmobile bus and for publicizing the event.

Congratulations donors, sponsors and alumni clubs for a job well done. Our four-year total of units donated stands at 119!

And, of course, three cheers for the Orange football team for their spirited play! Come join us for our next Stumptown Orange watch party, Oct. 10 at Migration Brewing.
